

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mobile teaching aid with audiovisual amusement device is composed of a computer main unit, a projector, a keyboard, a mouse, a digital camera, a handwriting input device and a wireless net communication device (3G). The projector is mounted in the casing of the main unit to facilitate the user while in use. The digital camera and the handwriting input device are capable of helping the user to offer immediate teaching content and images so as to ease the teaching and have a sound surrounded ambience. The wireless net communication device (3G) is able to keep linking with the internet and receive uninterrupted net information.